

The security of your personal data during evaluation and processing on our homepage is extremely important to us. Your data is protected in compliance with the legal regulations. An information list of the data retrieved during your visit on our homepage and on how this data will be used is given below:

1. Data retrieval and processing

Whenever access to our homepage is made and one of its files is opened, a record will be made. Storage of these records is intended for internal, system-related and statistical purposes. The following data will be recorded: the name of the file, access date and time, transmitted data quantity, a message on successful data retrieval, web browser and requesting domain. Additionally, the IP addresses of accessing computers are recorded. More detailed personal data is recorded only if you provide this information voluntarily, for example in the course of a request or of a registration.

2. Utilization and divulgence of personal data

Any personal data provided will be used only for the purpose of answering your inquiries, contract handling and technical administration. Your personal data will be transmitted to third parties or for other purposes only when required for contract handling, especially for transmission of ordering data to suppliers, for invoicing, or after your previous agreement. You are entitled to withdraw your approval at any time and this will remain in effect for the future. Your personal data will be deleted when you cancel your consent to data storage, if data is no longer required for the intended purpose, or in the event that storage is not permissible due to other legal reasons.

3. Right to access to personal data

On written request, we will be pleased to provide information on any stored personal data relating to you.

Safety note:

We have taken all available technical and organizational measures and do our best to save your personal data in a way that this data is not accessible to third parties. As unimpaired data security during communication via e-mail cannot be warranted, we recommend transmission by regular mail whenever confidential data is concerned.
